Welcome to my new mission website ...

Through this website, my new global home, I invite you to share my walk with God as I serve Him and His people. I trust it will be of some blessing to you. I am dedicated to ensuring this space remains an ongoing fountain of living water to refresh you each time you stop by to visit. I promise you will always leave my home with hearts full of God's knowledge, love, and warmth:).

Each year I feel that year is the best year in my life. But then the next year gets even better! This is only because as I keep growing, I keep seeing more of God's sweetness and my heart longs to love and serve Him and His people even more. I have humbly come to see what it is like to fall in love with God and likewise, fall in love with His people. It is truly a special love story that never ends - it transcends time and space. Praise God!

A heartfelt thank you to those who served my mission loyally for many years including working tirelessly on various parts of this website. You know who you are. Thank you and many blessings.

Yours in, through and with Him, D.
